

For this assignment your group will be given a specific aspect of online behaviour that you will address. The goal with your film is to educate people on how to recognize, and deal with, different types of unacceptable behaviour online and give concrete examples how to be a role model on social media.

The different types are:

- Exclusion
- Harassment
- Outing
- Stalking
- Catfishing
- Fraping
- Trolling
- Dissing

In your video you will both highlight the problem, what it is, and how it affects the victim. You will also, to the best of your abilities, try to present a set of recommendations what the victim should do if affected, as well as what other people around the victim should do. You should also give concrete examples how to be a role model on social media. This could be friends and family, but also societal instances such as school, police, social services etc.

The film should be 2-3 minutes long and can be done either in the form of a picture slide show, or as an interview/lecture where you film yourselves instructing the viewer.
